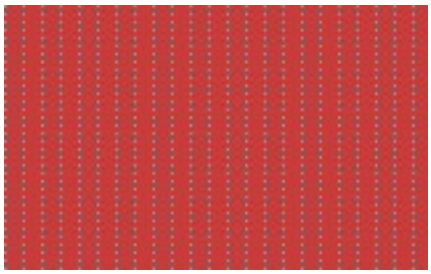
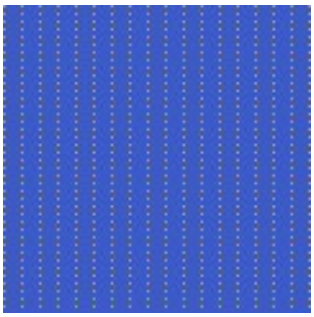
Figure experiments start with a description of the visual dataset and the acquisition protocol used to collect all samples.



The first figure above shows the red stimulus distribution over the calibration trials of the main experiment.

On this second page a differently colored figure is presented before the closing analysis paragraphs of the section.



The blue square figure presents the control condition results that complete the analysis section.